A Report on Entrepreneurship development in health care sector: Innovation & technology (Session on achieving problem-solution fit & Product market fit)

On
7th December 2022

Institution's Innovation Council, IQAC cell of KGRDCP & RI Karjat organized seminar for students on Entrepreneurship development in health care sector: Innovation & technology by Mr. B Khomne.

Mr. B Khomne explained entrepreneurship development with examples. He very nicely explained the process of successful entrepreneurship by telling a story of Larry and Steve. From the story one can understand that correct entry time in market is very important. He explained benefits of working with a plan and we should always be ready to adapt changes. Traction isn't about being first to market, but first to market adoption was the message given by him to budding entrepreneurs. He explained importance of market search, prototyping before commercialization of any idea.

Mr. Khomne also discussed various innovative biomedical applications and also, it's opportunities as an entrepreneur, explained examples of various 3D printing and its applications like prosthetic hands etc. Taking help from inter-disciplinary fields build your product don't limit yourself to your field only to become a successful entrepreneur was the message given by him. He explained various funding and grant schemes like BIRAC, ICMR, Start-up India, MSME, Mundra loan and many more. He gave the process chain for product development 4D-Define, Develop, Deliver, Deploy. His takeaways for the participants were love the problem and not the solution, he also shared his thought of always thinking out of the box and how to be different
